Schools Owe $53,000

Votes to Borrow $88,000
To Meet Teacher's Payroll

The difficulties of the Perry County School Board continued Monday night when board members were told that $53,000 in teacher's withholding taxes had not been paid the Federal and State governments.

Already faced with a deficit of approximately $136,000 board members reacted with obvious surprise and dismay when told by Marshall Swain, Department of Finance, Frankfort, of the withholding taxes.

Swain was in Hazard, Monday, to deliver the board a $66,740 check from the State Department of Education.

Suggesting a course of action to meet present bills, Swain told the board it might be advisable for the school system to borrow $20,000.

The board is committed within the next few weeks to an interest payment of approximately $7,300 on revenue bonds, and will have to make good the $53,000 in taxes dating back to June.

Of the financial situation, Swain commented:

"As to your debts, I have no preference and am not telling you what to do. However, the $53,000 is teacher's money; it is not the board's money." Board members indicated they would act to pay the withholding taxes.

In other business, Swain told the board that with the permission of his superior, he would represent the Perry County Board of Education when it appears before the State Board of Education in December to request permission to exceed the budget. Swain noted the request is being made to cover the $136,000 deficit created in the last fiscal budget.

Members approved an order authorizing the school system to borrow in excess of $88,000 to meet the teacher payroll.

Fouts, Dawahare Win; Bond Loses

Don Fouts and Willie Dawahare, both Main Street businessmen, are the City's two new commissioners. The sewer bond issue has been defeated.

These were the major results in the City election here Tuesday. Elected to the City Independent School Board were Herman Maggard and Clyde Leveridge. Maggard is a newcomer to the board; Leveridge was seeking re-election.

Fouts, however, showed strength in all five city precincts, getting 233 as second to Terry with 251 in Walkertown No. 26; 205 to 177 for Combs in winning Broadway No. 28; 207 to 172 for Dawahare in winning Middletown No. 30.

In winning Baker Hill No. 32, Dawahare posted 210 votes to 201 for Combs, who was second; while in Hazard No. 34, Combs got 223 votes to 214 for Dawahare, who was second.

Feltner's backing of Fouts may or may not have affected the election. In Walkertown, Fouts got 233 votes, Terry 251, while Dawahare and Combs ran weak with 130 and 125, respectively. At least in Walkertown, Fouts probably gained some by running with Feltner's backing.

In the other four precincts, however, where Fouts ran first or a close second or third, Terry, who also carried Feltner's endorsement, ran a weak fourth, including the two precincts carried by Fouts.

Terry, however, a resident of Walkertown is not as well known in precincts other than his home precincts; a factor which influenced his vote-pulling power. Fouts, Dawahare and Combs are well-known throughout the city.

With Fouts and Terry running on virtually identical platforms, voters apparently made their choice largely on the basis of Dawahare's platform combining popularity and issues, with the latter stressing city beautification, a cleaner Hazard, better recreation facilities and industrial survey of Hazard.

Combs' platform corresponded somewhat to Dawahare's but also included no increase in taxes, public accounting of funds, strict economy in government, and maximum participation by the City in Federal aid and assistant programs.

Depending on who replies, the outcome of Tuesday's election was or was not largely influenced by the public forum broadcast sponsored by Radio WKIC, the Sunday before the election. Two of the candidates, Dawahare and Combs, failed to appear for the broadcast.

2 Local Shriners Receive Honors

Two Hazard businessmen, Curt B. Feltner, and William B. Campbell, have been honored here with offices of high standing in the Free and Accepted Masons.

Campbell, of 325 Cornell Avenue, has been appointed District Deputy Grand Master of Kentucky No. 35, F. and A. M., of Kentucky; Feltner has been elected to Principal Sojourner of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Ky. It is the highest honor ever to come to a Hazard Mason.

Both men have been active in local and State work of the Masons.

Feltner has served in all of the offices of the local York Rite Body.

He entered the Masons in 1925 at Yerkes and transferred his members to the Hazard lodge in 1935.

Scottish Rite Member
He is a member of the Scottish Rite and was District Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1924. He is president of the Hazard Shrine Club and treasurer of the Hazard Chapter No. 185, R.A.M., of the Hazard Shrine Club.

Campbell was appointed to his new office by the Most Worshipful Grand Master Marvin S. Whitton, of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, during a Masonic meeting held here last week. Feltner was elected to this honor during a meeting in Louisville recently.

Former "Turnkey" Dies Suddenly

Jim Campbell, former "turnkey", for former county jailer, Bill Caudill, died yesterday, Nov. 5, of a heart attack.

According to information received, he had just been to see the doctor and had walked across the street for some water to take some medicine.

Mr. Campbell was well known throughout Hazard and surrounding community.

Funeral arrangements are still incomplete. The Engle Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

State Clears Gym Boosters At Leatherwood

The Leatherwood Gymnasium Association has been given a clean bill of health by the Kentucky Department of Finance.

In hot water here last month over what became of $1,846 in county school board funds spent on the gymnasium, the association was cleared here Monday night by Marshall Swain, State Department of Finance.

Swain released the text of a statement turned over to him by the Association.

It revealed that the money went to:

It revealed that the money went to erect, paint and install two sets of goal posts, for temporary floors in hallways and dressing rooms; heating systems in dressing rooms; plumbing system including hot water "facilities"; minor repairs on the heating system in the gym; and for grading and pouring foundations in the local locker rooms and coal bin.

The statement revealed the money was paid to six men.

Daniel Disposes Of Citizens Bank Stock

A large block of stock in the Citizens State Bank was sold to five Hazard businessmen Tuesday. Dewey Daniel announced that he had sold 451 shares of the Citizens State Bank stock to Dr. C. L. Combs, Dr. Eli Boggs, F. M. Medaris, R. W. Gibson and L. D. Gorman. The stock belonged to Daniel personally and the Hazard Insurance Agency.

The sale price was not disclosed but Daniel said that Doctors Combs and Boggs purchased 150 shares each, Gibson and Medaris 50 shares each, and Gorman 51 shares. He said negotiations for the sale of the stock had been underway for the past six months.

Daniel, who is president of the Peoples Bank, first acquired stock in the Citizens Bank in 1950 when he purchased 77 shares from Harry Hones.

Had 616 Shares

Later acquisitions brought his total purchases to 616 of the bank's 1,000 shares. In 1955, he sold 165 shares to some 13 local businessmen. Today's sale covered the remaining 451 shares held by Daniel and the insurance agency.

Daniel first became interested in bank investments in 1928

On trick or treat evening, Luther thought someone may make the climb, but no one trick or treat, called on them. Luther has snow tread tires on his car and so far, so good. He drives right up that hill to the hilltop house without trouble.

Opportunity For Bond Owners

The Secretary of the Treasury today announced that effective December 1, 1958, owners of Series F and G Savings Bonds may apply the proceeds of their bonds maturing on or after December 1, 1958, as well as proceeds of any unredeemed F and G bonds which matured before that date, toward the purchase of Series E and H Savings Bonds without regard to the annual limitations of $10,000 (maturity value) for each series. This privilege, which has been available to individuals and personal trust estates beginning September 1, 1958, is now extended to all owners of outstanding Series F and G bonds except commercial banks.

Series F and G Savings bonds were issued beginning May 1, 1941, and matured beginning May 1, 1953. Their sale was discontinued April 30, 1952.

The new privilege is extended to a larger group of investors, excluding commercial banks for their own account but including all trust estates not previously covered, pension and retirement trusts, guardianship and similar estates, partnerships, corporations, and associations, such as labor unions, fraternal, civic, service, patriotic religious and veterans' organizations.

This broadened privilege was in response to requests from many investment groups which had not been able to purchase savings bonds since Series J and K bonds (which replaced F's and G's beginning in May 1952) were withdrawn from sale on April 30, 1957. All owners of Series F and G bonds who have held their bonds for the full 12 years to maturity can, effective December 1, 1958, keep their Savings Bond holdings intact through reinvestment in E's or H's, and add to them through new purchases under the current annual limitation.

Series F and G Bond owners desiring to purchase Series E and H Savings Bonds with the proceeds of their matured bonds may do so at any Federal Reserve Bank or branch, or through their local bank for forwarding to the Federal Reserve with a request for re-investment. Series E or H bonds so purchased will be dated as of the first day of the month in which the matured Series F or G bonds are presented for payment. In order to preserve the continuity of their investment, holders of the maturing bonds are urged to present them for re-investment of the proceeds during the month in which they mature.

James F. Stiles, Jr., National Director of the United States Savings Bonds Division stated: "The Treasury hopes that the owners of maturing F and G bonds will find it to their advantage to reinvest in Series E and H Savings Bonds."

We Can Continue As A Vigorous Community

The election is over. Don Fouts and Willie Dawahare, both Main Street businessmen, are the new members of the City Board of Commissioners. The sewer bond issue was soundly defeated, getting 912 "yes" votes and 680 "no"—true, a majority, but not the two-thirds majority required by law.

Certainly it was an election that will linger long in the memories of Hazard residents, and be recalled from time to time as one of the most exciting in the history of this community.

More Torrid Than Usual

If, as has been said, it was more torrid than the usual city elections, then possibly the reason can be found in the exceptionally high calibre of the four candidates and their clear stands on a variety of issues. Little was left to the voters' imagination about where each stood on everything from taxes to recreation.

We are sure the voters would agree with us when we say that now is the time to set aside the rigors of the campaign and drive head-long into the problems of the community.

The sewer plant is one of these. Even during the campaign, there was no question about the City needing the plant: the problem stemmed from the method of financing. Possibly with some luck and assistance from Frankfort, Commissioners can still salvage the $206,000 or a portion thereof, of the Federal grant on the plant.

Voters Favor Plant?

Voters have well demonstrated they are in no mood to provide a two-thirds majority on a general obligation bond. A revenue bond is still a possibility for the City, if Commissioners can be reasonably assured that the public desires the plant.

It would appear they do. The votes results of Tuesday's election would appear to indicate that voters were not objecting so much to the plant as they were to the general obligation bond and the clause "unlimited taxation." Possibly, as some have suggested, the bond issue failed because voters were not clear in their own minds as to the issues involved. This could well be true.

But this is so much "water over the dam."

A Better Community

Progress does not normally come to any community overnight. Since the flood, we have indeed been fortunate in our blessings. Progress has been rapid—and the defeat of the sewer bonds does not portend any letdown in the pace of our development.

We are unquestionably a better community for having passed through a vigorous election campaign. We can continue as a vigorous community regardless of the failure of the bond issue.

Our Readers Write

"Observer" Is Ridiculed;

Dear Editor:

May I use your paper to invite "Observer", who vented his spleen on the Perry County school system in the issue for October 30, to visit Combs Memorial School at Jeff and see what goes on there before he takes it on himself "to write us up" again?

I dare say he has never set foot on our school premises. In addition to that he is totally ignorant of what goes on at our school for the purposes of raising money. If information means anything of him, we do not have a store; we do not have pop machines; we do not run a dance hall; and we are not in the theater business. We have SCHOOL six and a half hours a day at Combs Memorial, and we would welcome him to "observe" our program at any time.

We do have a lunch room. It is operated in connection with the Federal Lunch Program, and we are not robbing anybody to keep it going. Instead, we are making it possible for our students to have a decent lunch at a very small cost.

If he is really interested in knowing what goes with our money, he is welcome to move in with his auditors at any time and check our books. We have a record that is open to the public of every business transaction that has taken place since the opening of our school seven years ago; it shows where our money came from, and it shows what the money was spent for. I can speak personally for five of the seven years.

If Mr. Observer knows as little about what goes on at the other schools which he took to task in his inquiry as he does about Combs Memorial, it would become him to keep his ignorance to himself and make an on the spot investigation before his next report to the press.

Yours sincerely,
Grazia K. Combs
Principal

Policy On Political Advertisements Explained

Several people have asked about the policy on political advertisements which this newspaper announced on the front page the Thursday preceding the election.

As you may recall, we noted that we would accept no political advertisements which would raise new "issues" in the campaign for the Monday newspaper—published the day before the election—unless the candidate raising the issue got approval from the other candidates and would permit them to screen the ad.

Not An Unusual Policy

This policy, which it may be new to this region, is common among any number of Kentucky weeklies. It basically recognizes the fact that as a weekly and as a newspaper, time factors in production would make it impossible for one candidate to answer another's last minute charges.

It also prevents specific campaign charges

A Fearful Price The Cost Of Polio

A 35-year-old father of three made headlines and sad news when he returned in an airborne iron lung from a vacation visit to his sister in California. His wife, shocked and heartbroken, said her husband just "hadn't gotten around to taking Salk vaccine" when she and the three youngsters were inoculated.

This father is now paying a fearful price for his omission. Stricken with paralytic polio involving his respiratory system, he faces the grim possibility of permanent crippling. Before his physical status can be determined, however, he must undergo extensive treatment and long-term rehabilitation.

Heartbreak is implicit in this situation. But the saddest part of the story and its true tragedy lie in the fact that it need not have happened. Salk vaccine could have spared this young father as it spared his wife and three children. It should be used by people of all ages, from infancy through adulthood. There are no age restrictions on its effectiveness, or its use.

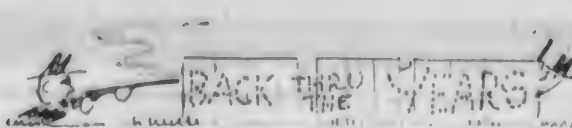

The National Foundation has long urged families in all communities to see that their children, teenagers and adults too, get inoculated with three shots of Salk vaccine to protect them from paralytic polio attack. If you haven't yet been vaccinated, see your family physician today. Make an appointment to get all the members of your family started on the three-shot series of Salk inoculations that can protect you and your loved ones from the threat and disaster of paralytic polio. Don't take needless chances with your health and the welfare of your family.

Why be sorry when you can be safe? Get started on your Salk shots today.

No Need For Mud-Slinging

Every election has basic issues involved—issues which must be aired. If we allowed a newspaper published the day before the election to become a mud-slinging sheet, we would never hold the respect of the public.

If you don't agree with us on this policy, let us know. We've said before. We say again, "Our Reader's Write" column is for your comments on any public issue or to criticize us. Limited of course as space permits.

First County Court Clerk Still Holds Record For Time Served

Gurney Norman

April 17, 1821 was a busy day for the first Perry County Court Clerk Jesse Combs. He recorded three deeds that day.

As far as records show, the first of these three deeds is the first to be recorded in Perry County. The document, still preserved in a bound volume in the Court House, said that Jesse Adams "doth grant, bargain and sell to the said Stephen Hogg and his heirs forever one certain tract of land containing 48 acres."

Mr. Adams got the tidy sum of $400 for his 48 acres, or $8.33 per acre of Perry County wilderness that day a scant 45 years after the Declaration of Independence was signed.

There were four land transactions in that month that found their way into the newly-begun Perry court record. Things slowed down during the summer when only one transaction took place, but August and the harvest season saw a record seven deeds filed with clerk Combs.

There is a long gap in the records after August, 1821, or perhaps just nobody was in the buying or selling mood. But early in 1822, Mr. G. T. Cotton of Woodford County, who somehow had acquired a piece of the foreign Perry County, sold to Edward Strong, a native, "a tract or parcel off and" amounting to 60 acres "for and in consideration of the sum of $75, say fifty in a horse and twenty five in cash."

First Marriage Book on File

The original marriage book is also on file in the County Clerk's office. The third entry in this book is the first one to bear a date, June 11, 1821. Recorders got right to the point back then in making things legal. The only mention of marriages in the books was briefly this: "I do certify that the written couple is married by me," and then follows the name of the officiating magistrate or preacher.

These old legal papers are in a remarkably good state of preservation. They of course are all hand written, but on a high quality paper that has withstood 137 years of mildew and being thumbed through. The ink now appears brown on the pages. Stains are frequent, also brown, but they do not obscure the writing.

Any change of scribe who so painstakingly entered the wealth of now-historical information into the records is easily noted because of the difference, often for the worse, in the handwriting.

First Will Filed 1822

Though well preserved, the writing style has changed to such a degree since then that reading the records is difficult. Names cropping up all through the early records have not changed however as the current names of Combs, Miller, Smith, Campbell, McIntosh, Turner and Adams and many others fill those ancient pages

Newsweek Cites Evil Results Of Crime And Violence

Newsweek magazine, in a special report on television programs which depict crime and violence, makes the specific charge that "the criminal effects of all this TV crime are scattered but well-documented."

The magazine, in its Oct. 13 issue, calls attention to the fact that the crime and violence programs—Western, suspense, danger and police programs—are at an all-time high this season, with the networks devoting a total of 24 hours a week to them. Of 31 new programs

Highway Dilemma - Let's Improve Old Roads

All states have increased their road building programs. The American Road Builders Association estimates the total outlay for highways this year will be $6.6 billion, a billion-dollar increase over 1957.

But most of the money will go into primary roads, particularly the 41,000-mile Federal interstate network. To take advantage of Federal provisions for aid, many states are reducing the amount of money they had planned to spend on non-Federal highways, such as secondary and country roads — the rural "back" roads. If money has not been diverted, attention has — by state departments assigning priority attention to the "more important" roads.

Highway officials find themselves in a dilemma. They need all the Federal aid funds that are available to build fast, smooth primary roads for tomorrow's expected increase in driving. At the same time, they cannot afford to neglect the existing roads that handle today's needs.

Especially needed, according to safety experts, are good markings of hazards—the unseen curve ahead, the narrow bridge, the pavement bump. Because roads are notoriously dangerous after dark, new traffic signs and hazard warnings are made of special materials that gleam brightly under headlights and give drivers 24-hour warning of the hazard.

Everybody agrees that it will be years before we can remove all hazards from old roads and build the necessary new roads. It would seem wise to make the roads we already have as safe as possible.

Quoting Others . . .

"Much of the good work of the world has been that of dull people who have done their best." Sen. George F. Hoar.

coming on the air, half are in this "grisly category," while nearly 150 nonnetwork shows, used by stations throughout the country are of this type. In addition, a large number of old horror movies are being reissued under new titles for use by TV stations.

On a recent Saturday, Newsweek reports, "no fewer than 39 shows with varying degrees of violence" were shown on TV in the New York area, while a recent survey in Los Angeles, covering programs telecast up to 9 p.m., listed during a single week "161 murders, 60 'justifiable' homicides, 192 attempted murders, 83 robberies, 15 kidnappings, 24 conspiracies to commit murder, 21 jailbreaks, 7 attempted lynchings, 6 dynamitings, 11 extortions, 2 cases of arson, and 2 instances of torture, not to mention uncountable numbers of prolonged and brutal fights, threats to kill, sluggings and maulings and innumerable unspecified indignities inflicted indiscriminately on men, women and children."

Not only do the programs of this type depict violence, Newsweek charges, but they show how the crime and brutality are committed, despite the fact that the Television Code of the National Association of Broadcasters includes a ban against "the presentation of techniques of crime in such detail as to invite imitations." This code also condemns "the use of horror for its own sake" and provides that "criminality shall be presented as undesirable and unsympathetic."

Even more pointed condemnation is expressed by Frank J. Kronenberg, president of the New York State County Judges Association, who declares that "television is an instrument of intense pressure that convinces the immature mind that violence is an accepted way of . . . Exposing children to such violence can be compared with taking children to public tortures and hangings in medieval times."

Still more of these programs are on the way, Newsweek warns, and it concludes with the recommendation that "the networks, independent stations, producers, performers, all the purveyors as well as the violence-prone American public itself should seriously consider the advisability of at least a partial moratorium on mayhem."

Newsweek is to be commended for its clear and courageous report on a subject which has caused parents so much concern. The television industry should take seriously the charges made against it, and should realize the dangers inherent in the flood of violence it is pouring into the homes of America. —Lexington Leader of court record.

Marriage certificates were not used until December of 1899.

The earliest will on Perry County record was filed in October, 1822, by Simon Stacy. According to "Perry County, Kentucky—A History," by the Hazard Chapter of the D.A.R., Hazard's first settler, Elijah Combs sealed his will in 1855, and left most of his land and his negro slave, Lewis, to his son, Jesse Combs.

Formal mortgages were late in coming to Perry County, founded in 1820. Court records do not show evidence of any mortgage before April 15, 1875, when Samuel Brashears received $100, "paid in one sorrel horse," from William M. Cornett, "for land on the waters of the Big Branch containing 300 acres more or less."

Clerk 53 Years

Jesse Combs holds clear title to the record time in the office of County Court Clerk. He served in that capacity from 1821 to his death in 1874.

According to the D.A.R. publication, the county was not so far advanced as to have its own court house in 1821. Court was held, and no doubt the records were filed, in the home of Elijah Combs, which stood about where the Goad Hardware now stands on Main Street. The present documents dating from 1821 have outlasted two court houses that were destroyed by fire in the 1880's and in 1911.

Volunteers To Service Red Cross Chapter

Mr. A. R. Barber, Chairman of the Perry County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announced at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Perry County Chapter that due to the lack of funds in the treasury of the local chapter, the chapter is unable to continue operating as it has in the past. The Board of Directors, by unanimous consent, agreed that the chapter would go to a volunteer basis and would, therefore, not operate as it had heretofore.

It was indicated by Mr. Barber that the local chapter has been handling as many as 125 home service calls per month, and it was felt that the people in Perry County were morally obligated to perform the necessary services for our boys in the armed forces and their families at home. Obviously it would be impossible to continue this service to the boys in the armed services unless the people of Perry County come to the aid of the local chapter by volunteering their services. Approximately 25 volunteers, mostly women, from Hazard and Perry County have volunteered to help.

At a recent meeting at the Kentucky Power Company, Mrs. Bernice Kay, Home Service Representative from the National Chapter, and Mr. Zeph Stultz, Regional Representative, gave instructions to the ladies on how to operate the chapter. The volunteers have now completed their training and the chapter office is open from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon Monday through Saturday with the volunteers being subject to call any hour thereafter.

Mr. Barber stated that more volunteers will be needed, and anyone interested in helping to carry on the activities of the Perry County Chapter of the American Red Cross should contact Mrs. Katy Combs, Home Service Chairman, phone 1229, or Mrs. Dorothy Vaughn, Vice Chairman, phone 789.

There's a NEW TWIST in BUNNY BREAD!

Just as it goes into the oven, two dough pieces are expertly twisted together. What a difference this "Twist" makes!

The structure of the loaf is magically changed. Dough cells are elongated, they retain moisture—and keep your bread fresh longer. The twisted loaf is soft but firm, it won't tear as you butter it.

But best of all, is the taste! Twisting seals the flavor in—and it's gently guarded by a firmer, richer crust produced by a special "Steam-Bake" process.

New BUNNY Twist is the bread your baker babies—it takes more time to bake and it costs no more.

More and more smart shoppers are reaching for the new BUNNY Twisted enriched bread. So fresh—keeping! Delicious all ways —always!

First Baptist To Dedicate Bell Memorial, Sunday

The "old bell" which has tolled the heartaches and joys of thousands of Eastern Kentucky Baptists will become a monument here Sunday at 3 p.m. when it is dedicated at a special ceremony being sponsored by the Three Forks Baptist Association.

The bell is from the old First Baptist Church, recently razed to make way for a new church for the congregation.

Its dedication here near the rear of the church on Main Street will be in memory of the Rev. A. S. Petrey, the man who was instrumental in establishing the First Baptist Church, as well as other Baptist churches in this region.

Sunday's dedication service will be held at the Sunday School building to the rear of the church. The bell was mounted nearby on the bank of the North with a donation for this purpose from Dewey Daniel, president, People's Bank.

Mr. Ernest Lanham and Mr. Winn T. Barr, pastor of the First Baptist Church, have announced the following program.

Song service, lead by Mr. Dennis Wooten.

pastor of the Confluence and Typo Baptist Churches, and Superintendent of Perry County Schools, scripture, by Shafter Couch, pastor of the Combs Baptist Church, prayer, by Asbel Couch, prominent mountain evangelist, and pastor of the Gays Creek Baptist Church, special music by the choir of the First Baptist Church, recognition of Mr. Daniel and visitors by the Rev. Barr; duet by Mrs. H. A. Spalding, and Dick Spalding, daughter and son of the late Rev. Petrey; address by L. O. Griffith, promotion director of the Home Mission Board of Southern Baptist Convention, Atlanta, Ga.; benediction; and dismissal to gather at the monument where Stanley Petrey, namesake to the late Rev. Petrey and his nine-year old grandson, will toll the bell; congregational hymn; and dedicatory prayer by Mr. Griffith.

The Rev. Barr said all churches of the Three Forks Association are being asked to announce the ceremony at their Sunday morning service to "make the event a great testimony both to the man, the late Mr. Petrey, and to his Lord."

Board Closes Bowlingtown

The Bowlingtown school is being closed and Fed Fork school re-opened to solve transportation and teacher problems.

County School Superintendent Dennis Wooten told school board members, Monday night, that Fed Fork would have to be reopened because "we can't get the children out" to attend school elsewhere. Fed Fork is on Gay's Creek.

Wooten said he had rented a church at Fed Fork for $30 a month to serve as a school building.

He said he was closing the Bowlingtown school because the teacher there quit. Wooten said the 17 students at Bowlingtown will be sent to Buchhorn.

Buchhorn To Get Heat

Board members approved both actions by the Superintendent.

In other business, the board approved a rent of $2,034 a year for the Buchhorn plant, an amount equal to the insurance costs on the buildings.

Board members, at Wooten's request, authorized the installation of temporary heating facilities for the new primary building at Buchhorn—the building, which was the center of controversy here last month when it was discovered that it had been built illegally.

130 Attend School

Marshall Swain, Department of Finance, Frankfort, assured the board that "temporary" heating facilities can be installed in the building.

Swain noted: "Approximately 130 children are attending school without heat. We take the position that the welfare of the children should come first. The State is providing you with surplus 'Warm Morning' heaters. These can be installed and then removed when you cease using the building."

Built Illegally

Although the building involved was built by the county school system, it was done without State approval which must be had on all public school construction projects. The building is on private property owned by the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency.

Wooten told the board the work will be done immediately. The children, he noted, are now attending classes in the "old building."

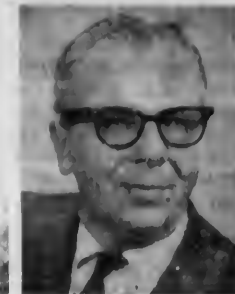

Footnotes to Board Meeting:

Board members approved the appointment of Mrs. Renda Stacy as a teacher in the Sulphur Springs school, and Robert Burke at Robinson School on an emergency permits. Emergency permits will also be requested for Bobby Dean Moore, a teacher at Buchhorn, and Albert Combs, principal at Combs.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

November 9, 1958
"JESUS DESCRIBES DISCIPLESHIP"
Matthew 5:7.
—by John R. Howard—

Here it is!
We find people on every corner giving their idea about what a Christian is. We have as many different concepts of Christianity almost as we have individuals. Sometimes, but all too seldom during these days, do we find those who meet together in agreement on what a Christian is.

Here we have Jesus' own words on what a Christian is, given in the lesson, Matthew 5:7. It is always better to keep quiet and listen to the Spirit as He speaks to us, telling us the answer that God has for our questions. The Word of God is the final authority in everything. Before Him we must stand, each one as individuals, to give account of the words that we have spoken and the deeds that we have done in the body. Foolish is that man who builds his house upon the sand, chasing every butterfly of doctrine, running after every whim of frail man, who himself must perish as a blade of grass in the oven.

What does Jesus say about Discipleship?
First of all He gave to the twelve Disciples whom he had chosen and called apart to himself upon the Mount, a brief, simple yardstick by which they could measure themselves. This yardstick is called the Beatitudes, which means "Blessedness" or in our modern thinking "Happiness," or the Character of Happy People.

Are you a happy person? Are you glad that you are alive? Is it a joy for you to be living and serving God? Is your religion a burden to you or does it lift you on eagles wings into the blue of God's Heaven? In the Beatitudes we find how a Christian is always coming up smiling, always finding a song in every day's sorrow, always returning good for evil. We see why he is "the salt of the earth," why he becomes "the light of the world."

The Sermon on the Mount, for this is the Scripture Lesson for this week, starts out by telling us that WHAT A MAN IS, IS OF IMPORTANCE, NOT WHAT A MAN HAS. A Christian is one who is spiritual in character. We must BE something, before we can DO anything. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it. (Ps. 125) The body is the Temple of the Holy Spirit. It is only as God lives IN the man or woman that he or she may even claim to be a Christian. We must be born again. It is Christ IN you that is our hope of Glory. (Colossians 1:27).

So we find that Disciples of Christ are "Beggars after the Spirit"; "Not I, but Christ." Not by works of the law are we justified, for "our righteousness is but as filthy rags in His sight." For we are His Workmanship, created by Christ Jesus unto good works, which he hath prepared that we should walk in them. Disciples mourn because of the evil of sin in the world in our own lives. Disciples are meek; they hunger and thirst after righteousness; they are merciful; they are pure in heart; they seek to make peace among their fellow men.

A disciple IS something, he is a child of God. He becomes a Child of God thru SEEING God, believing in Him and walking with Him in Character and works. If we are to BE more we must SEE more of God. After we have seen God, then we are made anew into His image; we then become like Him, not completed at once, except thru faith, but we start growing up into the image of the Likeness of His Son, Jesus Christ.

This does not mean that we have to wait like Thomas, and not believe or act in faith until we have seen Jesus in the flesh, or found a special vision from heaven. This is good when we do, but how few do! Jesus puts a higher reward and blessing on those who never had a special blessing or vision than he did on Thomas' expressed faith in seeing Jesus when Thomas said, "My Lord and my God." Jesus answered Thomas by saying, "Thomas, because you have seen you have believed; blessed are they who, not having seen, yet have believed!" A higher blessing then is indicated for those who simply take Jesus at His Word and who believe without having to be knocked down to receive the blessing. An obedient child is one who does what he is told to do. He acts in faith because he loves. This is true of the Christian. If a child has to be whipped before he does the Father's will he is still a child, but he acts under compulsion and the reward and happiness of the obedient child is greater. Why should we wait for the heavens to open to show us, when the word is already nigh us, even our mouth and in heart, the word of faith which we preach? Receiving the Word, who is Christ, the Son of God, into our lives, and acting in obedience to do the will of God, this is what Jesus says a Christian is. MEMORIZE THE SERMON OF THE MOUNT!

Well it's over, the City Commissioners' election, I mean. Don Fouts and Willie Dawshaw were the winners. The voters were very generous. They took one from each side. Now we'll see who wins the tournament. The fight has begun.

Well since this city election, I can say I have seen and heard everything there was just too many on the side lines trying to guide the thing. So people decided to just split 50-50. Money isn't everything.

They say the chains of habit are too weak to be felt till they are too strong.

Mount Olive To Observe Woman's Day

For the past five years the Mount Olive Baptist Church on Memorial Drive of which the Reverend R. W. Richmond is pastor, has observed the second Sunday in November as "Women's Day."

On this day the women have a worship service and make a special financial contribution to the church.

The worship service always features some outstanding Christian woman as guest speaker. On Sunday, November 9, 1958 at 3:00 P. M., Mrs. H. E. Greer of the Hazard Presbyterian Church will address the meeting.

Mrs. Greer, who was Hazard's 1957 Woman of the Year is a very outstanding Christian worker, and is an instructor in the Upper Broadway School.

It is hoped that churchwomen throughout the community will be present to share in this service.

Mrs. R. W. Richmond is general chairman of the women of the Mount Olive Baptist Church. Theme is: "A Look At Church Women of Today."

"Live life each day-don't just pass through it"

Newt Kook
President
Dant Distillery Co.,
Dant, Kentucky

Here's a bottle full of smiles!

Why pay the additional tax — save money and get my 90 Proof J. W. Dant. Same genuine Kentucky Bourbon as my popular 100 Proof Bond.

I have many friends who like their bourbon on the lighter side. And since I've always said: The only way to have a friend is to be one...here's what I've done: I've introduced a 90 Proof partner to my famous J. W. Dant 100 Proof Bottled in Bond.

I make only one kind of Kentucky Bourbon -- genuine, old-time sour mash. This mild 90 Proof bourbon of mine is the same premium quality -- I mean exactly the same -- that has made my 100 Proof Bond the World's Largest Selling Bonded Bourbon.

That brings me to the question of the U. S. Government tax stamp at the top of every bottle of whiskey. There are green tax stamps and there are red stamps. The green stamp means you're paying the top Federal tax for 100 Proof whiskey. The red stamp means you are saving in taxes when the whiskey you like is 90 Proof.

That tax difference is part of the saving I've passed on to you. My 90 Proof costs you only $4.55 a Fifth. I'm proud to say that it's the best value of its kind anywhere on this round earth...no bourbon, at any proof, gives you as many smiles for your money.

I have a hunch my J. W. Dant 90 Proof is going to please a lot of people. And that makes me happy, because I like to think I'm in the business of making friends -- of selling smiles. Any day I make a new friend I'm happier than I was the day before!
